

SUNDAY BATTLES DEMON RUM AGAIN

Twenty Thousand Hear Evangelist Urge a Dry Nation in War Time.

1,489 MORE HIT TRAIL

St. George's Church Turns Out

Delegation of 4,300, Including Junior Guards.

Exactly 4,300 of Billy Sunday's 20,000 hearers last night were members of St. George's Protestant Episcopal Church and they made up what was by all odds the largest church delegation that has attended any of the sessions in the Tabernacle. But not only did the St. George "folks" as Billy called them—bring the champion deputation, but they carried their own private life and drum corps and a fine company of Junior Guards in khaki.

Billy's pine meeting house is getting thoroughly accustomed to music other than hymns these days, so when the life and drum corps rattled off "Yankee Doodle" there was a dissatisfied echo. There was, however, a lot of hand clapping and shouting for more. Pipe and drums are pretty tough competition for Roddy's slip horn, but neither the choir master nor the old slide trombone seem to mind it in the least.

Apollo Quarter Heard.
Besides the drum corps the Apollo Quartet of Boston, that sang so many times during the Sunday campaign there, was a very tuneful addition to the regular musical programme. And in this paragraph it should be mentioned that Roddy and Brewster, the organization's famous piano player, who can make the old hymn book favorites get right up and one step, dived a new patriotic song called "Columbia." There was a fine swing to the music.

Following his Monday off Billy was in good voice and fine form. Among other things he fought one fast round with old King Alcohol, usually he boxes ten to a popular decision, but last night he won a knockout in the first round. "Congress don't seem to have nerve enough to give us a dry country even during the war," he shouted, in the midst of some fine foot work. "They're so darn scared that they've passed the buck to the President. Well, if I was Woody I'd call their bluff. I'd make this old nation of ours so dry that you'd have to prime a saloon keeper if he wanted to sip."

That Iowa Spare Room.
Billy led his 20,000 back down the long trail to his boyhood home in Iowa again last night. He had a spare room and a first thing he and his audience knew he was telling all about the "best room" where the company always slept, and where they tucked away the preacher when he'd stay all night.

"Some of you let Christ in your homes a little ways, he began, "but you always shut Him up in the spare room. Say, we had a spare room back home in Iowa. It was in the northeast corner of the house, and in winter time there was always a half inch of frost on the windows, and I just as soon would have crawled into a snowdrift as between the two sheets. I can see that old now—green and red paper on the wall and a little strip of the same colored carpet in front of the 'sofa'—it was a halibut lounge, and she was as sleek as a bobcat."

"And there was a bed that my uncle must have whittled out with a jackknife. It had big round posts with figures cut on 'em. There was no mattress, and when you'd get up in the morning your back'd look like a waffle. And in place of springs there was ropes that you'd wind up with a windlass."

Billy waited until everybody had settled down again and then he brought them back to New York with a jerk. "Say!" he trumpeted, "go home to-night and open up that all room and tell us to come on down and have the best chair in the parlor."

Total of 1,489 Hit Trail.

The usual method of trail hitting was varied in the evening service, when Billy at the close of his final prayer asked

Q. Why are these goods returned?

A. We were late in delivering them.

Q. What do you mean by late?

A. When I gave MUST orders to take care of a very good customer?

A. Couldn't be helped—we ran into a succession of blow-outs and by the time we finally got straightened out, the customer wouldn't accept delivery.

Q. How can we overcome this dangerous state of things?

A. From what other drivers tell me I would suggest equipping our delivery wagons with Lee Puncture Proof Tires. The steel armor discs in them prevent the puncture of ordinary tires. In fact I got a Lee Tire and Lee Inner Tubes to come back with today and you will receive a bill and full information from
